

Weddings

InStyle

Gorgeous Gorgeous

Shop the

Big-Day
Pros' Top

Bridemaids
Dresses for Every Figure

Cakes That Dazzle You

aislestyle

PLATINUM PICKS

STING

JOSS STONE

BILLY JOEL

It's no surprise that celebrities can line up big-name musical acts to perform at their weddings. At Robert Downey Jr.'s, Sting crooned "Fields of Gold," and Billy Joel—who also sang at pal Donald Trump's nuptials—took the stage next. The Barenaked Ladies entertained Jason Priestley's wedding guests in the Bahamas; Joss Stone serenaded Elton John at his recent wedding. Now mere mortals—albeit ones with celebrity-level budgets—can nab a headliner for their big day as well by turning to Bookingentertainment.com. The company has arranged for headliners such as Rod Stewart and the Wailers to perform at weddings, and for somewhere between $40,000 and $5 million, Bon Jovi, 50 Cent and Melissa Etheridge are also for hire. Costly? Sure. But if money is no object, then a private concert may strike just the right note. —Amanda Greene

Emilie de Ravin of Lost

Insider!

Hair & Makeup Looks You'll Love

INSTYLE SPECIAL ISSUE DISPLAY UNTIL SEPTEMBER 12

$5.99US $6.99CAN 63>

0 92567 10646 2

SUMMER 2006 INSTYLE.COM AOL KEYWORD: INSTYLE